House, Senate Make Significant Progress on Customs & Trade Enforcement Legislation

July 29, 2015 - PRESS RELEASE

BRENDAN BUCK, DOUG ANDRES \(202\) 226-4774

WASHINGTON, DC — Last month, the House passed the Trade Facilitation and Trade Enforcement Act, important legislation to update and strengthen the enforcement of our trade laws. This followed the passage of a Senate version of the bill in May. Today, Ways and Means Committee Chairman Paul Ryan (R-WI) released the following statement on the status of the legislation.

"Since the passage of customs and trade enforcement legislation in the House and Senate, work has taken place to resolve the differences between the two chambers' bills. I am pleased that we have made significant progress, and I expect this will allow us to move to a formal conference committee soon after Congress returns from this district work period. I am confident the bill we send to the president will include important House priorities and provide the United States the enforcement tools needed to ensure American workers and businesses are competing on a level playing field."
